Green space an integral part of municipal plan

By Ceilidh McClurg
Green space, parks, and a trail system are very important cording to those who gave input into the General Municipal

Says the preamble to completed final draft, "People have told us that this plan needs to stress our community facilities and services, out green areas (including the entrance to town), our sense of community and quality of life...

The drafting as done, and the plans are passed and those comments were taken into consideration and made a significant part of the plan.

Didsbury Town council passed the third and final reading of the MDP last week to create a future plan for the town that suits what residents were asking for.

Council has placed a high priority on this document and especially wanted to ensure that the views of all interested parties were heard," says the introduction to the plan.

It took months of preparation, public consultation and drafting to finally bring a completed plan to council and it wasn't all smooth sailing. Last minute revisions were made to the docu-ment based on comments from the gallery at the public hearing held before second and third reading.

Beverly Pentz, a small home business operator asked to have a clause that addressed noise pollution of perspective future developments included in the plan. That amendment was made with thanks from council to Pentz for bringing the lack of a noise pollution clause to their attention.

Denischuk will speak for board in pending

By Ceilidh McClurg and Dan Singleton

It could be more than a year before a judge hears the case of former Chinook's Edge School Board employee, Wayne Poncia versus the school board, says a lawyer involved in the case.

However in the meantime, an officer of the board has been selected. Trustee Susan Denischuk will carry the large responsibility of speaking on behalf of the school board during all of the legal proceedings.
David Pick of Brownlee

Fryett who represents the board says the testimony of the officer will be legally binding court of law.

Denischuk acknowledges the weight her statements will carry but says, "I feel that it is a responsibility that the board has asked me to complete, and I am okay with it."

She explains that a motion as passed appointing her the officer on behalf of the board in April. One of the reasons that she was chosen is that she was the chairman of the board at the time that Poncia was an employee and upon his depar-

Late last year the board an nounced the resignation of Poncia. However at a March meeting, the board passed a motion to terminate the con-tract of Poncia. "For just cause, namely insubordination in failing to return to work after being required to do so on Sept. 1, 1997," the motion read.

Poncia, a former assistant superintendent is suing the school board for breech of contract stating that he was let go from his position without adequate notice, among other claims. He is claiming $80,000 in damages.

As part of Denischuk's re-sponsibility she is participating in the examination for discovery covery process between Poncia's lawyer and the school board legal counsel, where each side in the case presents their evidence and their side of the story. It is also often during this process that an agreement be reached out of court.

However, Pick said he was not able to comment if discussions regarding an out of court settlement were taking place

The examination for discovry will likely be completed by the end of the summer, says Pick.

"A trial will likely be a year after that," says Pick citing large amounts of evidence, a backlog in the court system and the many number of days the case could take in deliberations once it reached the courtroom.

Poncia's lawyer, Judith Shriar, of Field Atkinson Perraton, declined any comment on the case

I would rather not talk about the lawsuit at all," she said Thursday.

Savings for town's books ... and other town council notes

Non-sufficient funds (NSF) cheques that are written to the town, will now carry a charge of $20 for processing and handling. Town director of corporate serices, Sandra King, indicated that there is a great deal of time and paperwork involved in dealing with NSF cheques, and the person responsible for the time loss should be held accountable. King also said it will act as a deterrent in the future.

The motion was passed unanimously.

Mowing mix-up

The Didsbury Golf Course sent correspondence to the town indicating that they would no longer be responsible for mowing the grass on the large hill of the butte. The club indicated that the area was out of their leased area, and not their responsibil-The town was informed by the director of operational serv ices, that in fact, the area was within the lease area, and the club will have to mow the butte. A letter will be sent to the executive of the Didsbury Golf Club.

Canada Day on its way

The Canada Day Committee has requested that 20 St. from 20 Ave. to 18 Ave., and 19 Ave. from 20 St. to the alley beside Steve's Restaurant be closed during the day to accommodate the activities planned for Canada Day The roads will be closed on July 1, from 2 p.m. to 10 p.m

In addition, Gary Dolha who serves on the committee, told council that the budget for fireworks is up significantly this year due to high sales at their Canada Day Garage Sale. The town also granted $600 towards the celebrations at their last meeting.

FCSS surplus, committee

commended on hard work
The Family and Community Support Services board has ended 1997 with a $15,132 surplus. The Community Services Advisory Board reviewed the situation and asked the town to create a new eserve account in which to place the surplus. The money will be used for other projects that qualify throughout the year, and a contingency.

the discussion praising the volunteers that serve on that board. There used to be a paid position under the town office that han dled the approximately $80,000 in FCSS funds. Last year that responsibility was given to the Community Services Advisory Board. Parliament said, "I feel very comfortable that attrition has worked here. They have done a heck of a job."

The approximate savings to the town by having a volunteer board dispense the FCSS dollars as opposed to a paid staff member is around $50,000.

Water works

The Town has paid its last bill to the contracted consultant for the waterslide project at the Dids-bury Aquatic Centre. The final allocation was $1,623.

Rhonda Hunter of the Memo rial Complex said in her report, "The waterslide was contracted out, constructed, and completed efficiently and effectively under the watchful eye of the contracted consultant.

Super savings The Town of Didsbury will realize a large savings thanks to the cancellation of an agreement between themselves and Alberta Municipal Affairs. The town used to pay almost $4500 dollars each year for a Municipal Subsidy Agreement, which help provide housing to needy families and individuals. In fact, the subsidy had been as high as $11,000 at one point. The final payment will be $4,270 in 1997/98 and will drop to $0 for following years.

The motion to participate in the cancellation of the agree-ment, due to refinancing on the part of Municipal Affairs was passed unanimously.

ZEMC rezoned

Council passed first reading of a bylaw to rezone the old Zion Evangelical Missionary Church to allow for a residence in the basement of the building. The change was requested to accom modate the sale of the property to Child Evangelism Fellowship of Alberta. The group plans to base their headquarters out of the building. The residence in the basement would be used mainly centre and a home for the direc tor's family and possibly a parttime residence for one or two other staff members. A public hearing will be held on the matter on July 7 at 7 p.m.

Campground contract

Rosebud campground operators, Gordon and Rosemary Hancock have agreed to sign a new two year contract. Council has repeatedly praised the Hancock's for their work at the campground, and said they were pleased to hear that the couple wishes to return.

Tuggle land bylaw

Council granted first reading to a bylaw to redesignate a por-tion of Alan and Jill Tuggle's land from Urban Reserve to Residential. The land is on the east side of Rosebud Creek and the Tuggles wished to have the rezoning to accommodate their plans to start subdividing the property.

Road closed

Further to a written request to close 24 St. north of 17 Ave. from Ken Crandlemire, the town has examined the portion of roadway and determined the closure would be in the best interest of the town. The first reading of the bylaw was passed.

MDP passed with amendments

Continued from Page 1 Another portion of the MDP that came up for debate was the inclusion of the airport as one of the assets in economic develop-the idea saying, "Personally I don't see it as a viable development instrument for the town He also stated that he believed that it was too specific to name an actual facility, because it was rarely done elsewhere in the plan.

When the motion to include the airport in the plan was voted the Mayor had to be the deciding vote due to a tie. It was passed, and the airport is included in the plan.

Some of the main highlights of the MDP that will directly affect Didsburians are:

The town supports the multi-use of commercial and residential units. That is to say, homebased business and downtown business, with a residence included.

Anything that is applied to be developed in the entranceway to town, will have to fit very spe cific guidelines, as the residents had specifically requested that the space be protected.

A parking study is to be conducted to address concerns of parking downtown.

The town will support the cial and residential land uses adjacent to 20 Ave. However, Robert Wigg, town development officer indicated that any development in that area will have to have a symbiotic relationship with the current uses

Industrial development will be encouraged to located in the areas north of Secondary Highway 582 and east of the downtown commercial district

The town has also indicated in their plan that they will fully support a trail system that could be developed in the area, and will encourage future developers to add or make room for such a system.

The plan indicates that the town must work cooperatively with the Mountain View Management Board to come to a solution for the lack of housing for seniors in Didsbury. This was a concern that was dis-cussed at many of the open houses that have been held over

The plan basically outlines the future of Didsbury. Anyone who wishes to see a copy can obtain one from Town Office.

Main Street project gets approval for two year extension

By Ceilidh McClurg
History lives in downtown
Didsbury. One can almost hear the antique buildings whisper their stories as one walks along the sidewalks.

The Didsbury Main Street Project is trying to keep that spirit alive, and over the next two years, workers will con-tinue to urge the characteris-tics and the stories out of the facades of downtown buildings.

The project has just received approval to continue for and additional two years, over the three year timeline given when it started in 1995.

Dave Mohr, the Main Street Project coordinator says he put the proposal to the Alberta Historical Resources Foundation at their annual convention last

Mohr came armed with a letter of support from the Town of Didsbury indicating that they would be willing to continue to pay for office space and a portion of staff salary

"The Alberta Historical Resources is very pleased and wants to continue the initiative in Didsbury," says Mohr. Since its inception, there have been seven building rehabilitation projects, eight sign projects, and 650 volunteer hours have been put in by local volunteers

The two year extension will allow leeway for more building projects to be completed in the downtown core, he says. In addition, "We want to continue to expand the new sidewalks, put up more lightposts, and extend the tree planting program." He explains that the program will enable hime to work his way further down past the old Sandstone building.

However, he believes it is even more important that the ectension allows the chance for the project to go beyond the actual building projects and into the marketing of the town and its history.

"We've done a lot on the building side of things for the last few years, now we want to start more on the marketing and economic development side of things," he says

One project that Mohr is participating in, out of his budget from the time extension, is a joint marketing ven-ture with four other Main Street Projects around Alberta. They will all put to-gether a flyer that will promote historical resources, heritage and culture in the four towns. The flyer will then be distributed to an audience of 500,000 through a couple of large media networks

Mohr says he hopes it will attract people to come visit the town, and bolster tourism.

The whole point is to get people to come to town."

Other initiatives that Mohr hopes to bring through the Main Street Project is to develop signage and building design guidelines that will be available to business owners even after the project is gone.

The Main Street Program was brought to town in 1995 by a group of downtown business people who wanted to improve business traffic in the core. They garnered the support of the town office, who applied on their behalf to Alberta Historical Re-sources to begin the program

There are five active Main Street Projects in Alberta at present time, and 10 projects that are completed.

Mohr says he believes the best measure of the program's success is in the numbers.

"One of the good things that we've seen over the past few years is that the number of vacancies downtown seems to be decreas-

EDITORIAL / OPINIONS

Where do we draw the line?

This week in Lachine, Quebec a whole congregation of a Presbyterian Church will have to chose between a good minister, and the right to belong to their denomination of choice

Their minister has openly told the church leaders that he is homosexual. He was told that he had to make a choice between living with his lover, and staying a man of the cloth. This minister said he refused to make either choice and continued to minister to his

That is until, the church leaders came down and told the congregation that if their leader would not make the choice then they had to. The congregation of more than 150, mostly senior citizens who have belonged to church since its inception, will have to vote to either support their minister in his decision, or to lose the right to call themselves Presbyterian.

I see this as an unfortunate corner to backed into, for all parties including the church leaders, the minister and his congregation.

For the Presbyterian Church of Canada, they are being asked to bend the rules. According the scripture, a two man or two woman relationship is wrong. The role of the church leaders to preserve their beliefs and make sure the teachings of the bible are taught. If they are already bending the rules by allowing him to be gay, but asking him to remain celibate, they have already given in a little.

The rules are the rules. If you start making exceptions, like the right to swear, the right to cheat and the right to lie, then what purpose does a church have, because they have scratched out so many essential parts of the scripture, there is little left to teach to a congregation.

Don't get me wrong, I certainly do not put the rights of liars and cheaters in the same realm as homosexuality, but the point remains. On the other hand, just because a person admits to being gay, that should not rule out their right to employment. Working as a minister of a church is a job. He is a human being and all human beings deserve the same rights the way I see it.

In fact, a longtime friend of our family has "come out of the closet" as they say, and when I look at my her, I would never wish for anyone to treat her differently. I would be infuriated if someone discriminated against her on any level. She is still my friend and I love her.

I have met people who claim to live by the scriptures who would throw my friend or this minister to the wayside purely because they are gay. They stand on their high horse and proclaim the scripture has said it is wrong, and therefore those people should be treated as "wrong" human beings

However, it is from the very book of scripture that these people, if they were truly living by the scripture as they claim, could read, "Love they neighbour" or "Thou shalt not judge."

These people are just as guilty of only believing in the parts of the scripture that they wish to, as much as if not way more, than the gay minister. They are bending the rules of God to suit their own selfish hate.

In this whole situation with the congregation in Quebec, it is truly these people who come to church week after week to hear the word of God that are suffering. Perhaps this is the fault of the minister who has chosen to pass the buck down to his people and ask them to make the decision.

Perhaps this is the fault of the church leaders. Just because the minister is gay, I am doubtful that he stands at the pulpit each week and preaches his way of life. He is teaching what any other minister is teaching, the words of the bible and the lessons

The worst part is that this battle is going to result in a three loss

The congregation may lose its right to practice the faith they believe in and a good minister.

The church leaders will lose the ability to reach the whole group of people, not just the congregation, but people who support the minister because a bad taste will be left in all of their

And the minister will lose his job, his life work and the power to bring people closer to the Lord.

Copps stifles democratic process

THOMPSON

On June 10, Heritage critic for the Opposition, Jim Abbott, questioned Sheila Copps about her recent comments on the proposed commercial development in Banff National Park.

Copps announced Monday that she intended to do everything in her power to stop the commercial development proposed by Banff Town Council, despite the fact residents of Banff in a recent plebiscite, voted overwhelmingly in favour of the expansion proposal.

The by-law would allow an additional 850,000 square ft. commercial development in the townsite over the next 15 years. Secretary of State for Parks, Andy Mitchell, worked closely with the Banff council as they went through the process leading to the creation of the by-law. however, Copps announced plans to create legislation that would block any future developments in any of Canada's national parks.

In response to Abbott's in-quiry, the Minister stated "It's

Dear Editor.

Isn't it time taxpayers had a say in MPs' pay?

Right now MPs are ramming a report through the House of Commons that would boost their pay, double their expense allowance and sweeten their severance package and pension options.

MPs say they need the money, but shouldn't Canadian taxpayers have the final word on this matter? After all, MPs are supposed to work for us. Isn't it the taxpayers who pay them?

Certainly MPs had a perfect opportunity to raise the compensation issue during the last federal election. But they didn't. Not a single party mentioned any form of compensation increase in its platform in the last election - just one year ago. They just begged us for their jobs back.

And why wouldn't they? MPs earn about $106,000 a year in salaries and allowances and can look forward to collecting a su per-rich pension or a generous severance package, among other employment benefits.

On top of all that they now want to vote themselves a big increase in total compensation.

Obviously, when it comes to their pay and benefits, MPs are in a conflict-of-interest situation.

in a conflict-of-interest situation.

That's why MPs should not collect any raise in pay or benefits during the life of this Parliament. Any increase in compensation should not be implemented until the next Parliament, after MPs have sought re-election on the new rules.

re-election on the new rules. We taxpayers can't give ourselves a raise, and neither should MPs.

Sincerely, Stephen Harper, President of the National Citizen's Coalition

A community thank you

Dear Editor.

The Alberta Lung Association wished to extend a sincere thanks to many of your readers for their substantial contribution to our 1998 Asthma & Allergies Camnaign.

Close to $1.1 million was raised province-wide, involving more than 25,000 volunteer canvassers. Our special thanks to the area coordinators, zone captains and canvassers from your region. Without your help, we couldn't have knocked on so many doors for donations. To the thousands who gave at the door - our sincere appreciation.

Your community has truly demonstrated that success can be achieved through team work. Asthma and allergies affects so many Albertans - and with the help of many people in your area we are more able to help those in need. Funds raised through this year's campaign will go towards asthma research and education programs.

Your readers should be proud.

Sincerely, Don Molesky, Volunteer President, Alberta Lung Association

Don't take my firearms

Dear Editor

Recently it took the RCMP four months to register a firearm I had legally purchased. Two years ago it took a couple of days before I could take the firearm home. With computers and mechanization and fax machines and the swifties in the Liberal government we now have reams of paperwork and a system that equals the intelligence of those people in Ottawa. But it can get worse. Those rocket scientists want to register all of our firearms. Either the Liberals are nincompoops, or they have emptied the asylums in Ottawa and put them to work for the Mounties.

Recently an American, John Lott, did a comprehensive study of 3,000 counties in the USA. The book, "More Guns and Less Crime," provided statistics to show that 98% of cases where a crime is being committed, it is halted when a firearm is produced by the victim. In only 2% of cases is the firearm fired. The more firearms, the less crime in 3,000 counties in the USA.

Lott's book shows that use of firearms by white persons in the USA is almost identical to statistics for white Canadians. Are Canadians different from Americans? Why does Switzerland have almost no crime problem with most abled bodies having a gun in their home? Do the Swiss have halos or are criminals just uneasy in the presence of a person who will take the responsibility to protect themselves?

In Alberta in the 1950s, we had about one murder per year in Edmonton and Calgary. Look up the statistics, but don't believe a ToryLib. Do you think Mr. Trudeau knew what he was doing when he abolished the death penalty? Further down the road, now that murder and crime are rampant, the ToryLibs have come up with a solution; just take the guns away from law abiding citizens. It happens all the time in Communist countries, create a problem and then create a suitable solution. When these brain surgeons punish a criminal for murder or rape then send them to jail for a holiday and who is punished? You and because we have to pay for this holiday plus the drones of the court system. The lash and the paddle and the noose are inhumane, but criminals and torturers are valuable citizens who need some more chances in our mamby-pamby, bootlicking, ToryLib jailhouse rest havens.

The right of protection of your home, country and life are a Godgiven right and are not granted to us by snivelling ToryLibs. I have obeyed the law most of my life and fought for what is right, in the RCMP and on the street, but if you wish to take my firearms away from me, please send a Liberal to get them.

Sincerely, Dennis Combs, Olds, AB

Senate reform starts in Wild Rose

Canadians will no longer accept the Prime Minister's back door attempts at appointing new Senators.

The Prime Minister waited until late Thursday after Parliament had concluded for the summer, before he announced the appointment of five new senators, including two Liberal fund-raisers.

The appointment of Hockey Hall of Famer Frank Mahovlich has prompted many questions as to the qualifications needed to be a Senator.

When I first heard that Mahovlich had been made an Ottawa Senator, I thought gee Ottawa has a pretty young team, what do they need an older player for?

It's clear that the Prime Minister is using Mahovlich to boost the image of the appointed Senate, but the truth is most people want the Senate reformed or abolished. I only hope that the Prime Minister will recognize the will of Canadians and appoint the Senators elected in Alberta on October 19.

In the meantime, for all those

In the meantime, for all those in Wild Rose wanting to participate in Senate Reform please come out to our Siesta Senator Fund Raiser on Sat. June 27 at 6 p.m. at the Crossfield Community Hall and listen to guest speaker Ezra Levant's vision of change.

Nonderings of the heart

By Margaret Fradley

One morning during our holiday on Vancouver Island, we were awakened by the loud "honking" of several thousand brants (geese) - it was here they made their annual stop during their migration to Alaska. It was amazing, as we reached for our binoculars, to watch them feeding on the sand bars - then all of a sudden, with seemingly no notice, they spread their wings and flew off to another location.

One could almost assume they had a leader. At times several brants would fly off - but none of the crowd would follow them, then somehow at the command of "one," thousands rose up and followed.

It occurred to me that there are "many voices out there": there are those who would desire to detain or deter us, or take us on a "detour off our designated path" - but we know we have "one leader" and we need wisdom and sensitivity in recognizing His voice so we too can move out in unity and in one accord.

Trivia challenge for Canada Day

Excerpted with permission, from the author of "Five Minute Challenge #1," Ken Weber, published in Canada by Stoddart Pub-lishing Co. Ltd.

1. Canada Day used to be Dominion Day, but the date has always been July 1. Whose idea was it to pick July 1 as our big day? The whole world knows that Canada's flag proudly dis-plays a maple leaf. What type of maple: red? sugar? Manitoba?

3. In Japan, Anne of Green Gables is almost at national obsession. By what name is she generally known there?
4. Coach Toe Blake didn't want to let Jacques Plante wear a mask in goal. What NHL great, as a coach, wouldn't let his goalie

5. Donald Smith hammered the Last Spike at Craigallachie, BC in 1885. It's often called the Golden Spike. Is it made of gold?

6. Our first three PMs were John A. MacDonald, Alexander Mackenzie and John JC Abbott. One of the names is spelled in-correctly. Which one? 7. The model for Gilbert &

Sullivan's Modern Major-General was Sir Garnet Wolseley. In what Canadian conflict was he a commander-in-chief?

8. The New Brunswick government fired Abraham Gesner in 1842. He has the last laugh, however. What did he invent in

9. Boothia Peninsula, NWT is the northernmost mainland point in North America. It's named after industrialist Felix Booth. What did he make to earn this honour?

10. O Canada! Our home and native land ... Of course you can sing the rest. How does the second verse begin?

1. Queen Victoria. 2. The leaf is a stylized sugar maple. 3. Anne of Red Hair. 4. Eddie Shore. As coach of the Springfield Indians (AHL) he once tied a goalie's neck to the crossbar. 5. No, it was iron because CPR president president Cornelius Van Horne wanted a no-frills ceremony, 6. John A. Macdonald, 7. Red River Rebellion in Manitoba, 1869-70. 8. Kerosene. 9. Gin, Booth's distillery bankrolled the Ross ex-pedition to find the Northwest Passage in 1830. 10. O Canada! Where pines and maples flow (followed by) Great prairies spead, and lordly rivers flow. This is the second of a two part series on weddings.

It has been years since the word "obey" was removed from modern wedding ceremonies and a good thing too. The concept of one intelligent, free, adult obeying another, within a personal relationship is demeaning and unhealthy. More and more brides also object to the idea of being "given away" and a popular current alternative is to avoid, "who gives this woman etc ..." and ask both sets of parents for their blessing and their support. In the 80s there was a trend toward women keeping their own name but this has kind of fallen from favour and while today's bride will probably take the grooms name she still may not want to be introduced as, "Mr. and Mrs. George Jones" but as, "George and Sylvia Jones." If more brides were aware of as, "George and Sylvia Jones." If more brides were aware of the origin of the word "wedding" they would want that worded differently too.

The word "wed" goes back to the old barbaric custom of buying a bride. The "wed" (horses, cows, pigs, shells, beaver skins) was the price the man paid the girl's father and the girl didn't have much to say about it. If the price was right girl didn't have much to say about it. If the price was right the deal was made. The prospective groom's family handed over the "wed" as security to seal the pact. So the wedding didn't have anything to do with four layers of decorated fruit cake, white veils and Oh Promise Me. I don't know what we can call it that will be more acceptable. The Conjoinment? The Troth Plighting? The Promising? I am sorry to tell you that wedding rings and veils began as symbols of submission. Wedding rings were a symbolic fetter and a badge of enchainment. The veil was a symbol of "sweet humility" meant to show the wife's submission to her new lord and master. Now the wedding ring is symbolic of a love that has no beginning and no end. And the veil?

of a love that has no beginning and no end. And the veil? Today's bride just thinks of it as part of the costume. I don't know what the bridal train signifies, maybe it's an extension of the veil, maybe it's meant as a display of wealth. The world's longest bridal train measured 97 feet 7 inches and worn by Diane Reid of Leicester, UK on May 6, 1990. "Bridal," by the way, comes from "bride ale" and was a celebration where ale was the chief refreshment. Sometimes the bride had brewed it herself and she sold it to the guests.

In 1988 Saul Steinberg hosted a wedding party for his daughter. It was held at the Metropolitan Museum of Art in New York City and cost roughly three million dollars. A modest little affair compared to the wedding of Mohammed, son of Sheik Rashid Bin Saeed Al Maktoum and Princess Salama, who were married in Dubai in May of 1981. That party lasted seven days and cost about forty-five million dollars. I don't know how many guests they had or if they all stayed for the whole week. When Menachem Teitelbaum married Brucha Meisels in 1984, it took 150 buses to transport the 20,000 guests to a pre-wedding reception at Nassau Coliseum. That's where the New York Islanders play hockey. Only 8,000 of the guest went to the sit down dinner afterwards.

Because Royal Marriages were primarily meant to Because Royal Marriages were primarily meant to strengthen an alliance with the countries of the bride and groom, it was not surprising that love was rarely a consideration. This is supposed to explain the absence of morals and the existence of mistresses among the old Royals. The new Royals have had to use other excuses. Sometimes the bride and groom had never met before the Sometimes the bride and groom had never met before the wedding, and sometimes one or both of them was in for a nasty surprise. In 1795, George IV is supposed to have been so distraught by the sight of his bride, Princess Caroline of Brunswick, that he refused to live with her. The feeling was mutual. Henry the VIII had six wives and the ones he divorced were the lucky ones. His last, Catherine of Parr, outlived him and went on to marry four more times. Mary Queen of Scots was married three times. Queen Victoria and Prince Albert were supposed to have actually loved

Queen of Scots was married three times. Queen Victoria and Prince Albert were supposed to have actually loved each other. A nice change from tradition and according to historians, a happy marriage. They were married in 1840 when they were both only 20 years old.

The cost of the wedding, the number of guests, the length of the train, the height of the cake, none of these things really have anything to do with the success of the marriage. Marriage is a living, growing thing and it has to be nurtured, supported and given a healthy climate in which to grow. All brides and grooms deserve a wonderfully happy wedding with all the trimmings that they can afford, but the wedding, after all, is only the beginning.

The big picture on Royal dietary fat Purnle

You have likely heard links between heart disease and eating ss saturated fat or links between certain cancers and e polyunsaturated fat. However, recent studies cast some doubt on the simplicity of these connections. It's just not that simple. Why? Because ... when you eat foods, they contain a mixture of fats and fatty acids. All fatty acids affect health in different ways. And, diet is not the only factor that affects your risk for heart disease and Since all fats are calorie dense, try to use a small amount of different kinds of fat each day. Whether you are trying to achieve a healthy weight or just eat a healthy diet, moderation in all things, is important. In other words, the suggestion to "eat a variety of foods" also goes for moderate amounts of different types of fat in your diet. How do you get a variety of fats in your diet? Aim for a variety of foods. With different types of fat, you'll reap the different types of health benefits that research is still unravelling. For example, research is starting to discover new components in fat such as sphingolipids, butyric acid and conjugated linoleic acid that may offer us health benefits.

Fats are also important in a healthful diet because they contain fat soluble vitamins, essential fatty acids and add flavour to foods and fatty fish are naturally high

DO YOU OWN FIREARMS?

On October 1, 1998 the Firearms Act takes effect across Canada.

So... what does that mean?

- 1. As always safety comes first. The firearms safety course and test, and the rules for storage, display and transportation which are part of the current law are now part of the Firearms Act.
- 2. Everyone will need a firearms licence in order to register firearms (your FAC is considered a licence)

There are 2 types of licences (valid for 5 years):

- · possession (for the firearms you now own) OR
- · possession and acquisition (if you plan to obtain firearms, even if you own firearms now).
- 3. Registration of all firearms begins October 1, 1998. All firearms must be registered by January 1, 2003. You register your firearms only once. You may do so at one bulk price (one price for any number of firearms you register all at the same time).
- 4. Fees for licences and registration are on a sliding scale. It's cheaper in the first twelve months.

Possession licence $10 October 1998 - September 1999 from October 1998 onwards Possession and acquisition licence (rifles and shotguns) Registration (bulk) $10 October 1998 - September 1999

Requium for an old boiler

Community History And Trivia

By Marg Weaver
You did your job faithfully for many years. In your infancy you heated two schools and kept a lot of children warm. Many a teacher was thankful for your heat on a cold winter morning.

As the years went by you still tried to keep us warm, even after the children were gone. But the old corroded water pipes let you down, and as hard as you tried you couldn't do your job any more

Neighbours attested to your valiant efforts - you clanged and banged and cried out for help

So, goodbye old friend, your days are past and a brand new heating system has taken your place. I can-not say we will remember you with regret, but we will still remember you when we say, "Remember when we couldn't hear ourselves speak for the noise," and we never knew which pipe was going to burst next.

So, goodbye old boiler, you are now a part of our history. It will be wonderful to go to the Museum this winter and be comfortable.

This is why we must have a celebration to bid you a much anticipated goodbye.

We know the competition can't measure up to us in length.

Grilled Lemon and Herb Chicken a la BBQ

2 tsp. grated lemon rind 1/2 c. fresh lemon juice

2 Tbsp. olive oil

2 Tbsp. water

1 Tbsp. basil

2 tsp. rosemary

1 tsp. thyme

1/4 tsp. ground pepper 2 garlic clove, minced 6 skinned and boned

Combine everything, but the chicken, in a plastic ziplock bag and shake to mix.
 Add the chicken; seal the bag and marinate in the fridge for 8 hours.

or combination fridge/cooler depending you departure and travel time)

3. When ready to BBQ, prep the grill with no-stick canola spray.

4. Cook chicken over medium heat, turning and basting every 5 min. with reserved marinade.
Serves 6 with foil packages of mushrooms, onions, peppers, zucchini, and potatoes. (Prep these at home, also, to save time later)

Changes: This marinade works with fish also, but use for basting

RELIGION

God has come to help his people: Way of Life hearing the nursery rhyme "Humpty Dumpty sat on a wall; Humpty Dumpty had a great fall. All the king's horses and all the king's men, couldn't put Humpty Dumpty together again." A young boy upon hearing this upon hearing this rhyme thought for a moment, and then coming up with a solution said to his father, "Jesus could have done it."

How true! In the Bible we read, "In Him (Jesus Christ) all things hold together." Colossians 1:17. Not only did Jesus Christ all things together in the beginning, but He still holds them together. Most importantly for you and for me, Jesus Christ holds our little lives together, He does. The Bible is filled with the rev-elation of God's caring concern for all people. When a family was torn apart by the sudden death of the father, God sent his prophet Elijah to help the famturn to God for daily provisions. And when the only son of the family became sick and died God, through his prophet, restored life (1 Kings 17). Likewise, while Jesus walked upon

ple. One time he came upon a funeral procession for a young boy that died in a town called Nain. He was filled with compassion for the family and raised the boy to life (Luke 7:11-17).

The people were filled with awe and praised God saying, "God has come to help his people." This is the great truth of God revealed in the Bible, "God has come to help his people." What I find particularly interesting about these two accounts I have mentioned is that the faith or faithfulness of the sees people in need and has compassion upon them. This reminds me of another truth about God revealed in the Bible. God's care and concern for people is not dependant upon any good quality to be found within ourselves. nor is there something that we need to do to earn his help. The Bible tells us, "But God demonstrates His own love for us in this: While we were still sinners, Christ died for us" (Romans 5:8) us, and always has and is con cerned for us. Not only can He help us, but He does.

God has come to help his people. When things seem to be at their very worst, we can rest assured: God holds all the pieces to our lives and He knows where every piece belongs.

God has come to help his people. This truth of God brings to mind a well known and much loved hymn, "What a friend we have in Jesus, all our sins and griefs to bear. What a privilege to carry everything to God in prayer." God invites us to live in loving, caring relationship with Him. He invites us to speak to Him, as our Father, to delight in His presence and trust in divine providence.

God has come to help his people. May this summer afford you the opportunity to discover and celebrate God's love for you in Jesus Christ

The Didsbury Review has been nominated for two Canadian Community Newspaper Association (CCNA) Better Newspapers Competition awards. After competing against newspapers from across Canada we have been selected as one of the final three in the following categories:

Most Creative Ad - For our Contemporary Graphics ads that usually run on the front page of the paper. These ads were designed by our very own Henry Hama, the graphic artist here at the Review.

Best Historical Story - For a story about Dr. Doug Paul, written by Jaron Summers of Edmonton. Whether we win first, second or third will be announced at the CCNA convention, July 22-25 in Winnipeg. We'll be sure the let you know how we did at that time.

Didsbury has hosted the provincials in a number of sports, from hockey to baseball, but this year will be the first time we've ever hosted the Provincial Skydiving Championships.

The provincials will be running from June 19-27 at the Canadian Skydiving Centre located south of Didsbury

The championships will be showcasing over 150 divers' talent during the week-long competition.

The provincials were held in Edmonton last year.

The numerous skydivers will be competing in and judged on such events as relative work, formation, accuracy and style.

Randy Fewchuck, the owner and an instructor at the Canadian Skydive Centre, is quite excited about hosting such a prominent event.

He says that everyone is invited out to the centre to watch the competition, and that they should bring their own lawnchairs

The big event will be held on June 27, with the Awards Night celebration. Fewchuck says that it should be a very entertaining evening.

The Outback Steakhouse from Calgary is catering the event which is co-sponsored by Loco Lou's of Calgary. The band, Liquid Silence, is set to entertain the crowd at the cabaret to follow.

New Vice-Principal

Congratulations must go out to Iain Paton, the new vice-principal at Didsbury High School.

When there was an opening for the position three weeks ago, Paton decided to apply for it. He found out only a week later that he had got the job.

Paton has been teaching Math and Physics at DHS for two years. Before that, he had taught in Carstairs for 10 years

"I'll be working with Mark (Leggette), the staff and students to act as a liaison between the principal and the students," he said.

Paton says that of all the people that applied for the position, he was the only one within the walls of DHS.

He says that he's a little bit nervous about the new job and that it's already a "whole lot of work." He will be teaching half of time and acting as vice-principal the other half.

Paton is a dedicated teacher saying, "I love it. I wouldn't think of anything I'd rather be doing.

Paton's wife, Susan, and two children, Keegan, 5, and Mackenzie, 2, are very proud and excited for him as well.

He says that any free time that he has from the school is spent with his family.

Hail suppression draws attention to local airport

By Ceilidh McClurg
"They are really beautiful, and people just don't realize how powerful they are," says Mac Mcquarrie.

He is speaking about the storms that he comes into contact with in his line of work as the senior pilot for the hail suppression project that is based out of the Olds/Didsbury Airport

Mcquarrie and the others involved in the project were at the airport explaining to 145 insurance adjusters and bro-kers, exactly what they do to suppress hail storms and reduce claims.

All the stakeholders in the Didsbury Hail Suppression Project based out of the Olds/ Didsbury Airport came out to see what their money was buying

They saw the high tech radar system, the computer system, the internet link, the seeding equipment, and they had chance to meet the people who run the program.

They were able to see how the radar computer system tracks storms and tour through the airplanes that seed hail clouds with silver iodide flares.

Catherine Tagg, of the Alberta Severe Weather Management Society, the controlling body of the project, says people in the industry often ask about the project, so they gave them the chance to see it working hands-on.

Another question she says the society is often asked is whether there is scientific proof that cloud seeding works.

She responds, "We can never prove conclusively whether it works or not, but if we don't pay out the claims that we used to, we consider it successful."

The aim of the program is to get right inside the clouds of a storm, and soften the stones so that when they fall to the ground they are not as harmful to prop-

Mcquarrie says he has seen hail stones that are the size of softballs when he is in the eye of the storm.

He and his fellow pilots fly out Calgary and Red Deer and follow the directions of Terry Krauss, the project manager, who watches the storm from the radar system at the local air-

There are two more years left in the hail suppression program.

Area farmers awarded for their initiative in farming

Canada's Outstanding Young Farmers Program, which spotlights and promotes young agricultural leaders, recently chose four Alberta farming couples as semifinalists

The Albertans nominated for the award are:

1. Richard and Marion Stamp who own and operate "Stamps Select Seeds" in Enchant, AB.

2. Glenn and Barb VanDijken who operate Harmony Farms Incorporated with their five children in Barrhead, AB.

3. Eric and Maya Iverson, who together with family members, own and operate Innis Lake Dairy Farm Ltd. in Olds,

4. Randy and Sandra Radau who operate Coulee Crest Farms in Bowden, AB.

The semi-finalists were honoured at the CIBC Agribusiness Centre, located at Olds College, June 20, 1998. This awards banfeatured Dianne Finstad from RDTV as master of cer-emonies and Richard Marz, MLA for Olds-Didsbury-Three Hills, who offered greetings. The keynote speaker was Clint empel, from Grande Prairie, AB, who won Canada's Out-standing Young Farmer Award in 1997 with his wife Helen.

From the field of Alberta semifinalists, one finalist will be se lected to represent Alberta/NWT the National Outstanding Young Farmer Program at the Royal Winter Fair in Toronto.

According to Outstanding Young Farmers chair Donna Hamilton, "The nominees were selected according to the progress made in their agricultural career, maximum utiliza-tion of soil, water and energy conservation, crop and livestock history and contributions to the well-being of the community, province and nation.

The Outstanding Young Farmers Program is sponsored regionally by CIBC, the Co-op-

Transfeeder Inc., Pioneer Hi-Bred and Agriculture Financial Services Corporation. National sponsors include CIBC, John

Randy and Sandra Radau - Bowden, AB.

Randy and Sandra took over the operation of Coulee Crest Farms in 1989 when they purchased the farm from Randy's parents continuing on the tradition of raising purebred Hereford cattle which was started in 1944 at Coulee Crest. 225 purebred cows and calves and over 300 head are bred annually including the commercial heifers. Of the 2200 acres operated, 900 acres are seeded to crops that include barley, canola, wheat, oats and export timothy hay. Since 1992 they have been hosting an annual production sale offering their top bull calves, long yearling bulls, bred registered heifers and bred commercial Hereford heifers. Coulee Crest cattle have been sold in Canada and throughout the United States and as far away as Sweden. Semen sales to these countries as well as to New Zealand, Australia and South America are helping to make the Coulee Crest name known internationally.

Randy and Sandra continually look to improving their cowherd and selecting herd bulls to ensure that sound, performance cattle are offered to their customers. Customer satisfaction is always paramount to their busi-

Combining their education and experience, they continue to look for ways to improve profitability, productivity and efficiency in operating their farm. The choice of a farming career over the option of working in the city was made because they felt farming could be a successful business and a better choice for raising their three children. Randy's philosophy is, "If you treat farming like a way of life, it's a terrible business; if you treat farming like a business, it's a great way of life."

Eric and Maya Iverson - Olds, AB.

Eric and Maya Iverson own and operate Innis Lake Dairy Farm Ltd. together with Eric's parents and brother and sister-in-law. Located three miles west of Olds, the farm was established in 1968 and has evolved through the years into a highly efficient production dairy, as well as a recognized and reputable Holstein breeder. The company and herd pedigrees are marketed worldwide. They purchase select top quality animals and are using these genetics in their embryo transplant; marketing and bulls are sold for Al progency testing to continually improve their strong bloodlines. Production and efficiency goals are consistently achieved as a result of improvements in reproduction, genetics, nutrition and management. Their herd is currently ranked 4th out of 64 in the region for milk production.

Future plans for the operation include continually changing and adapting to industry and new technologies and further expansion in terms of size and number of head milked in hopes that the next generation will continue on in the family business.

Eric and Maya have three children and believe the farming lifestyle to be a positive environment in which to raise their children as it instills in them a sense of responsibility, caregiving and appreciation for hard work. Eric is very active in community and political organizations.

Dairy Award of

The Westerner Championship Dairy Showcase committee is seeking nominations for the Provincial Dairy Award of Distinction. This annual award is presented to a maximum of three Alberta Dairy farmers, business people or families who have made a major contribution to the Alberta dairy industry. Nominations in the form of resumes or outline letters should be faxed to Westerner Park (403) 341-4699. Deadline for nominations is noon, August 14, 1998. Winners will be announced and contacted in August. Award presentation takes place at an awards banquet during the Dairy Showcase event, October 29 to 31, 1998 at Red Deer's Westerner Park. The award program is supported by UFA and the Canadian Imperial Bank of Commerce. For further information and nomination criteria, contact Leigha Graf (403) 309-0209, Red Deer.

The Craig family was honored by the Town of Olds when the park along Highway 27 and 48th Ave. was officially named "Craig's Corner." The renaming was just one of the many events that took place last weekend in honor of the 100th anniversary of Craigs Drygoods Store being in Olds.

AWNA announces Write On contest provincial winners

to the following students who were chosen as provincial winners and received cash prizes, back-packs, pencils and certificates from AWNA. Write On is a student writing contest, sponsored by the Alberta Weekly Newspapers Association (AWNA). It offers opportunities for the publication of student work and some great prizes for students. Write On is three contests: one for students in Grades 1 to 3, one for Grades 4 - 6 and the other for Grades 7 - 12. It's a great way to motivate students to read, to write, to do some creative and critical thinking using their local community newspapers.

FBMP seeks project applications

Business Management Program (FBMP) is calling for project applications for the 1998/99 programming year. There is no deadline for appli-cations, so interested cations, Albertans are urged to act quickly as funds will be allo-cated on a first come - first served basis

"The application process is very straight forward," said FBMP representative, Arla Trueblood. "All that is required initially is a two-page letter of application. The proposal is reviewed by a committee. Requirements after the review are based on factors such as the funding level requested or suggestions for modification made by the review commit-

The initial letter of application requires a basic amount of information; who is applying, the target audience to be reached, the area of management, the learning activity addresses and the dollars required. Projects are reviewed monthly, so the waiting time to hear back is short. If the funding level requested is large, a more detailed proposal with a detailed budget and evaluation strategy are re-quired next. Smaller projects need only a detailed budget.

"Private sector firms, gov-ernment agencies and indi-vidual members of farmer vidual members of farmer groups are encouraged to apply," said Trueblood. "The funding application must, however, deal with some aspect of farm management. Production topics do not qualify."

FBMP will help cover the cost of speakers and hall rental for conferences learning ac-for conferences, learning activities (face to face or distance delivery) and research projects. FBMP has helped support a number of local marketing clubs, made up of groups of farmers meeting regularly to hone their mar-keting skills.

"The Program looks at a wide variety of projects," said Trueblood. "If a group or individual thinks their project or project idea may qualify, they should call FBMP." FBMP can also help expand on ideas for learning events. Program representatives have the experience and the contacts needed to get in touch with specialists and event organizers

A full information package that includes the format for submitting proposals is available by calling 310-0000 and asking for or dialing 556-4218.

Farewell from

Dr. Neal Shone and Dr. Sandra DeSouza.

After nearly 4 years in Olds I would like to take this opportunity to inform my patients of my imminent departure from Olds on the 26th of June. I will be taking up a residency position in Obstetrics and Gynecology at the University of Calgary. I would like to express my appreciation for the support from all my patients as I have really enjoyed working in Olds. I wish everyone good health!

Dr. Sandra DeSouza would also like to express her sincere appreciation to the community of Olds as she prepares to return to northern Alberta the end of June. Dr. DeSouza will be pursuing her career in medicine and anesthesia.

The Wild Rose Medical Centre is pleased to announce that Dr. Shauna Craven will be commencing her practice on July 20, and welcomes new patients.

To book your appointment with Dr. Craven please call the Wild Rose Medical Centre at 556-7130.

PAMZ reports reductions

the Issues Response Committee at the first Annual General Meeting of the Parkland Airshed Management Zone (PAMZ), which includes the County of Mountain View area. Flaring of solution gas in the Sundre-Caroline area has been reduced by a record 35% over the last year. The PAMZ Board extended its congratulations to those responsible for this achievement - members of PAMZ who held a workshop last year and brought the issue to the attention of the EUB and the Clean Air Strategic Alliance; industry members for their considerable ef-fort towards this accomplishment; and, to the general public for their continued voicing of concerns over flaring.

The zone's first annual meeting was held on June 9 in Olds. Lloyd Cummings was selected as Chair for the next two years; Brian Goliss and Linda Burrell, who is also a local county councillor, were selected as Vice Chairs. The Board acknowledged Burell for her contributions as Chair of PAMZ during its inaugural year. Martha Kostuch and urer respectively, each for a two year term. At its Board meeting, also held on June 9, the PAMZ Board established a Human

Board as Secretary and Treas-

Health Committee to be chaired by Dr. Rudy Zimmer, Medical Officer of Health for the David Thompson Region. This committee will be responsible for assessing air quality related health issues in the zone. Work is continuing on the airshed monitoring program and a proposal is ex-pected to be tendered by the end of 1998. The PAMZ Board will continue to identify issues and work cooperatively and collaboratively to improve air quality in the zone. The significant reduction in flaring is a good indication that local stakeholders can work together to manage and improve air quality.

1998 Forage competition

CONSTRUCTION

THERE'S NO ALTERNATIVE TO CONCRETE

Concrete is the basement building material with all the advantages.

Its a proven performer, Rugged Tough, Durable. A concrete basement will never burn or rot.

And concrete is safe Quality controlled, concrete needs no toxic chemicals which may be hazardous to building occupants.

Quality Doesn't Cost - It Pays

Concrete is an energy-wise choice. A concrete basement needs little heat or airconditioning. And concrete walls are easily insulated.

Economically, concrete is a good investment. A concrete basement will add years of life to the foundation and considerable dollars to the resale value of your building

Add up the advantages. There's simply no alternative to quality controlled concrete. The best basement building material.

Local talent at Innisfail are any indication, the saddle bronc battles this year are going to be fought mainly in the Hay fam-

Glen O'Neill leads the Cana dian standings, with brother-in-law Rod Hay in second and, after last weekend, Denny Hay in third All three are at least $5,000 ahead of the competition

Denny leapt up the charts from sixth to third by winning the Innisfail Pro Rodeo for $6,162, and coming second at the Coronation Pro Rodeo for another $529.

I bet everybody's happy (sis ter) Jennifer doesn't ride broncs, said Denny

Hay stacked up 86 points for a high-flying ride on Calgary Stam-pede's Zippy Delivery.

"With an outstanding horse like that," he says, "you have expecta-tions of doing good so bad that ou've got to concentrate on doing things right."

"The thing about (Zippy) is he can buck a guy off pretty easy. You can't make any mistakes. Start counting your money too soon and you end up with none

Another man thanking his lucky stars for a great draw was South Dakota's Scott Montague, who spurred to a great score in the bareback event. He managed 89 pointson Franklin Rodeo's Skoal's Blue Ridge for a $2,517 win. His score ties with nine other bareback riders for the second highest ever recorded in Canada. That tells you a lot about Montague, but even more about Blue Ridge, who is bound to go down in the record books as one of the greats. The 13-year-old gelding carried Scott Lund to the highest ever bareback ride in Canada last sea-son at Falkland, and he tallied 89 points twice with Bill Boyd.

Another big winner at Innisfail was three-year pro Blair Stroh. The calfroper was the CPRA rookie of the year in 1996, and is bouncing back from a disappointing sophomore year

"I just tried too hard," he explains of his second year. "I wanted to make it back (to the CFR) two years in a row just to show every body it wasn't just luck. I just tried too hard, and didn't rope the way I usually rope."

That doesn't appear to be a problem this year, though. Stroh was already sitting in sixth place in the standings before Innisfail, and moved his way up to fourth after winning the average at the Innisfail rodeo.

"It's my biggest win for sure,"

SUMMER SOCCER The Under 6 team plays soccer in Didsbury every Monday night. There's lots of action on the local soccer fields this season. Organizer, Duke Moreau reports growing interest and lots of participation

he said. "After last season, my goal just to try and rope 80% of my calves, and it's been going pretty I've been winning little cheques here, there and all over -I just haven't hit a big one until Leaping up the standings was bull rider Denny Golden, who moved from 14th to 5th with a $3,534 win at Innisfail. Another young gun, Kagan Sirett, took top spot in the bull riding at the week end's other rodeo in Coronation. and sophomore Reuben Geleynse took a steep climb up the standings from 22nd to 8th - with a second place at Innisfail.

In the bareback, the top three all won money and maintained their positions. Kenton Randle took their spot at Innisfail, Wade Graves won Coronation and Roger Lacasse split fourth at Innisfail.

Rookie barrel racer Jodi Hollingworth held her lead in the standings with a fourth place in the average at Innisfail, but veteran Rayel Robinson took home top cash for the victory. She moved from 12th to 10th in the standings as a result. Two-time Canadian champ Debbie Guelly took the barrel racing title at Coronation to move back into second spot in the Canadian rankings.

As well, two-event cowboy BJ Zieffle took home $4,586 for win-ning the steer wrestling average at Innisfail to challenge Darren Shaw for the high point title. But Shaw managed a $2,788 weekend of his own to maintain a little breathing space

Innisfail

38th Annual Wrangler Classic Coors Chute Out Daines

Ranch Rodeo into the hooksas the best ever, attracting the best cowbovs in world competing on the very best stock

The total payout to winning cowboys was $137,000.

The All Around Champion Cowboy went to Denny Hay of Mayerthorpe, who won the Saddle Bronc with an 86 point ride on Calgary's Zippy Delivery, paying him $6,162. He also re ceived a $2,500 trophy saddle, a $3,500 value bronze sculpture, $500 Saddle Bronc buckle, and a $500 buckle for the High Point score to make his grand total winnings $13,200.

hosting the 15th annual NHL Awards this Thursday

The big award of the night is, of course, the Hart Trophy, which goes to the most valu able player of the NHL. All three candidates are excellent players who, at times, single handedly carried their clubs through the season. They are: Dominek Hasek (Buffalo Sabres), Paul Kariya (Anaheim Mighty Ducks) and Jaromir Jagr (Pittsburgh Penguins).

Hasek will probably win it for the second straight year, but my vote goes to Mario Jr. He showed his brilliant offensive capabilities all year long and even surprised some by displaying a committment to Kevin Constantine's "defense first" motto. The only reason I don't think Selanne will win is because the Ducks failed to make the playoffs.

Selanne is also in the running for the Lady Byng Trophy which is to the most gentle-man-like player. His opposition is the Penguin's Ron Francis and New York's Wayne Gretzky. The "Finnish-flash" Wayne just might take this one home.

The Norris Trophy goes to the best defenseman, and that is Niklas Lidstrom. There is no question about it. Sure, Chris Pronger and Rob Blake had great years but Lidstrom was outstanding all year long.

The coach of the year is given the Jack Adams Award. And there are just too many to choose from. You have Pat Burns (Boston Bruins), Joel Quennville (St. Louis Blues), Scotty Bowman (Detroit Red Wings), Kevin Constantine (Pittsburgh Penguins) and Alain Vigneault (Montreal Canadiens). My vote would go to Burns with Vigneault running a close second.

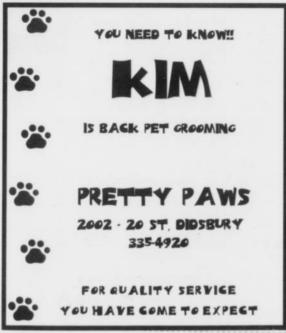

These, along with many other awards, will be presented this Thursday night on CBC at 8 p.m. Don't forget, this will be the last you'll see of the NHL until mid-Septem-

The Didsbury Rebels will hit the field with the bats in full wing this weekend to participate in their tournament. Teams that will be participating will come from Ponoka, Innisfail, Lacombe and Irricana. The top two teams will head to the Provincials that will take place in Spruce Grove from July 17 to 19.

The Rebels will play their first game on June 27 at 1 p.m. If they win, they will play again Sunday, June 28 at 9 a.m.

Golden Boys Vestcott

The Westcott Golden Boys who play in the CISA Molson Coors Division which eight other teams have a record to date of seven wins,

All games are played in Calgary on a weekly schedule

The team consists of players: Don Edwards, Dave Scott, Rob Scott, Shane Krebs, Darwin Casebeer, Cory Shields, Allan Shields, Chad Krebs, Ron Doiron, Brent Youngs, Tim Scott, Barry Smith, Blake Reid, Greg Krebs, Jason Krebs, Ryan Konschuh and Dean

The weekly schedule will continue to the end of July, when league playoffs will commence. Good luck team.

The Golden Boys are trying to arrange a home tournament about mid-August. We'll keep you posted on this.

SNOWSTORM SOCCER By Frank Pavlick Soccer, hello O Canada,

The World Cup on the way Where every step is life and death, Before they even play.

Take World Cup, 1982, Here's how that picture went, World's largest TV audience, To watch a sports event.

We usually think of Canada, As hardly soccer's home, But soccer fans bring red card blood, No matter where they roam.

The World Cup brings 'em out, force first. Amazing what might be, Gun down their own guy, kill the wife. Attack the referee.

They play it everywhere on earth, And here they come again, Suffering soccertash, Bootman, It's World Cup war, June ten.

07 CARD OF THANKS

THE FAMILY OF the late EDITH GROSS wish to express our sincere thanks to all who prayed for, sent cards, flowers, gifts of food, offers of help, and visited in the hospital. Your support and words of comfort helped us through a most difficult time. We would also like to extend our heartfelt thanks to the Doctors and nursing staff at the Foothills Hospital for their loving care Special thanks to Fr. Les Drewicki, those who helped with the service at the church and the Didsbury C.W.L. who served the lunch, your kindnesses will be remembered

07 CARD OF THANKS

THE KOTLARCHUKS WISH to thank their neighbours, the Artindales, the Grubers and especially Bobbi for the coffee, for all your help and offers of good cheer. A special thanks to the Fire Department. Job well done!

WE WOULD LIKE to express our sincere thanks to all our friends, family and neighbours for all the food, flowers, cards, prayers and love during this most difficult time. Everyone's kindness and thoughtful visits were greatly appreciated. Jerry and Dorothy Bischke and family.

07 CARD OF THANKS

The Happy Hoer He starts his day with the rising of the sun For most it's work, for him it's fun

He loads his tools and heads on his way For him and his backhoe, are like child and play

He maneuvers the hoe as if it were his hand He's an artist for sure, his medium, the land

He molds it and shapes it, to fit our needs A thousand times over, he's done his good deeds

He's fair and he's honest and ever so kind And trust me when I tell you, he's the best that you'll find

We're proud to say that Darwin's And if hard work is what it takes, Krebsie's Backhoe, Will be there to the end.

Thanks Darwin, from David and

I WISH TO EXPRESS my heartfelt thanks to all who attended my birthday open house. To my relatives and friends who worked so hard in the kitchen, no words can ever be enough to show my appreciation. The flowers, gifts, cards and entertainment made my day very special. Memories last forever. Once again, many thanks to everybody. Florence Cawsey

08 PRAYER CORNER

PRAYER OF THE blessed virgin (never known to fail). Oh, most beautiful flower of Mount Carmel, fruitful vine, splendor of heaven. Blessed mother of the son of God. Immaculate Virgin, assist me in my necessity. Oh, Star of the Sea, help me and show me that you are my Mother. Oh, Holy Mary, Mother of God, Queen of Heaven and Earth. I humbly beseech you from the bottom of my heart to help me in my necessity (make request). There are none that can withstand your power. Oh, Mary, conceived without sin; pray for us who have recourse to thee (x3). Holy Mary, I place this prayer in your hands (x3). Say this prayer for three consecutive days and then you must publish it and it will be granted.
